Kelly Watson, GHS	Magistrate Tim O'Leary	Students reading The Crucible learned about rhetoric and rhetorical appeals as used in early American court systems. Then compared it to the modern court system and its practices. Students learned about the types of evidence that can be presented, the role of rhetoric, and rights and safeguards that protect individuals from the misuse of persuasion in the court.
Angie Degray, GHS	-A car dealership -Phone conference with Cedar Point -Owner of Three Bean Coffeehouse	Students used certain equations and inequalities from Pre-Calc; groups chose a topic of interest and applied the equations to what they found. One group went to a car dealership and haggled to secure a price on a new Jeep. Another held a phone conference with someone at Cedar Point to help him price a weekend trip to Sandusky. Another interviewed the owner of Three Bean Coffee House to gather information on supply and variable costs for operating a small business.
Katie Guy, GIS Jenna Gardener, GIS	Paula Prince, GPS Rhonda Evak, GPS	Reading Buddies

Katie Guy, GIS	Haley Bowlby, HS	Made-up characters for HS students to create ceramic representations, then write stories together to go with them.
3rd Grade, GIS	Wax Museum!
Kayleigh Stine, GIS	CC students researched different ways to make s'mores using manipulatives, math facts, and a sequence of events, collected ingredients, and then made s'mores together as a class.
3rd Grade, GIS	The third-grade classes had a visitor this week, Allison Brause. Allison came from the Crawford County Soil and Water Conservation Department to share information on the importance of "bats" in Ohio and an activity on echolocation.
